Delay in Trains Makes Eggs Scarce

Utah Turkeys Coming in in Good Shape for the Annual Family Spread-Crabs Timid.

Owing to delays in shipments, there has een a decided scarcity in eggs for the past few days, a scarcity, however, which dealers claim will be only temporary and dealers claim will be only temporary and cause no further advance. Some very fine turkeys are daily being added to the market, selling at 20 cents wholesale, 25 cents retail, and the outlook for a goodly supply for the annual family festival is good. Chickens and ducks are also coming in plentifully, the ducks being as fine as have ever found their way to the Sait Lake market.

Idsho trout, a tempting looking lot, reached the local market yesterday. Most of the trout are only of medium size and they sell at 40 cents, retail. White fish, Mackinaw trout, lobsters and shrimps were also among yesterday's arrivals. Crabs are even slower than their wont this year and although the season opened more than a week ago in California, they are still strangers to the local market.
